

Origins

Written for Christian Serial Comics

Coleton Ritmanich

Blank was once a normal human. When he came to Christ, God gave him a vision of who he would become. The world is falling deeper and deeper into sin as many people accept the mark of the beast, Churches are made illegal, and Christianity is all but banned in the eyes of the new world order. The hope that people once had in God is fading quickly, as Christians are persecuted harshly for their faith as a lone orphan child prays kneeling, in the resistance's "Sanctuary."

"God, I trust you, I know you will send someone to save us, I just know it. In Jesus Name, Amen." she prays as the Sanctuary is raided finally found out, by a secret insider, A wolf in sheep's clothing. "There's a child here, praying! Orders?" asks a Soldier of The New World Order. "Take her in!" "Well, aren't you going to scream little girl?" "No, My God will send someone to save us all! A hero for all nations!" "And how do you figure that?" "I asked for it!"

"Sargent! Over here!" asked another Soldier. "What is it?" "This man right here, he keeps talking to himself, I think he's a looney." "Hold on, Jesus," starts the strange man, "Do you know how much work it takes to maintain three relationships at once?" "Shut up, snowball." said the Sargent, referring to his white hair. "Snowball? That's new, how'd you come up with that one?" "I said be quiet! And how did you get snow white eyes, anyway?" "There a gift from God. I see lots of things with them." "He is crazy, what should we do?" asked the soldier. "The only thing you can do," said the strange man, "Run." "And why should we run?" "Because your boss just ordered the people outside to destroy this place and everyone inside." "What?" "It was on the thirteenth com channel for your radio, separate from your own, you were ordered to use channel 11, were you not? That's why. Though I guess it's too late now. To run that is."

"3...2...1" "Time to get to work!" said the strange man. "Jesus! I call upon your power in my heart!" As the strange man snapped his fingers, The explosion was reversed, and it never happened. "What just happened?" "I would leave if I were you, I'd also ask my boss if he had my best interests in mind with all of that C4 and IEDs, Thank Goodness it was a dud. Right?" Spoke the strange man. And every soldier inside heard it, and went outside.

"Hey! Who are you?" asked the orphan girl. "My name is Blank. And you're safe now, Lorisa." "How did you know my name?" "I'm a friend of God, Jesus, and The Holy Spirit, a very close friend. I know things.” “Where are you going?” asked Lorisa. “To a place where I can stop this mess before it all began! Jesus, I ask you to roll back time, let’s say, the year 2018. In Jesus Name, I pray, amen.”

October 20, 2018

“Here we go. Thy will be done.”

Bonus Story:

How Blank Got his Power

Blank is actually a normal human in every way, that’s his secret, he doesn’t really have any power of his own, the power stems from his relationship with all three members of the Trinity, God, Jesus, and The Holy Spirit. When he asks, he knows in his heart and with all he is, that he will receive. One day he dyed his hair white, and put on white contacts, and later that night, God made them permanent. Blank’s contacts fused with his eyes, and his hair stopped growing.

Bonus Story:

Co-OP

So Blank and Knight started a company. Co-OP, or Company of Over-Powered People. And the team was unbeatable. Later, Blank’s son joined, with his power to bring anything he imagines to life, coupled with Knight’s Full Armor of God, and Blank’s Realization of Faith, the three really lived up to the name. Eventually, Blank’s wife joined as the Ceo, and made the small time company, an actually Free Hero Service, requesting that the government of 2020, accept the fact that the three are basically too overpowered to be controlled by any government.

Secret Notes:

Blank’s son is named Maxon, he was born with power.

If the bonus stories are interesting enough, they will be in their own short story as a bigger part in the CSC Universe.